Seeking, Serving, Sharing
June 16, 2024

The winds of fear can blow us down.
The floods of despair in which we drown are fueled by the same water that nourishes the flowers, when it comes in the form of gentle showers.
Our tears of hopelessness
can turn to smiles,
with one bit of good news,
which can last for miles.
So it may sound like an old cliché to say there will be a sunnier day, but it has to be so; it's in God's plan.
The storms will come into the lives of man.
We know that the sun
will break through and shine.
The rainbow will glow to give us a sign that the storms of life will never last.
They will fade away
and become the past. ~Neva Balduff

↔️ RAINBOWS ↔️

Tonight we had a sudden spring storm.
A cold front moved in
and overtook the warm.
The fierce lightning accompanied a torrential rain,
and the wind howled as though in pain.
It was over as quickly as it started,
and once the noisy squall had departed,
a brilliant full moon quietly arose, attiring the landscape
in silver clothes.
The sudden storms of life
can cause great pain
as they violently rage,
changing the terrain.

Dear First Christian Church,

We greatly appreciate your donation of $200.00. Your contribution is vital to the work of this agency. You as a donor will help us to provide life-saving services to more than 500 victims of domestic violence and/or sexual assault in the next year. We cannot THANK YOU enough.

It is because of generous donors such as yourself that we can provide transportation for our survivors. It may be in the way of bus tickets, gas cards and even filling the company's vehicle up with gas in order to drive our clients to appointments, the store and to catch the bus. This means a great deal to our survivors who are relocating and starting their life over.
