↔→ THE FOREST ↔→

Well, it's 3:00 a.m., and I haven't slept, except for a catnap or two, but Lord, my bargain I have kept.
I've been listening for you.
I'm beginning to wonder if you're asleep.
I seem to get no response.
Maybe you're in slumber deep, or could be you're off to other haunts and just ignoring me.
Not one word from you do I hear or maybe, just maybe, it could be you are so very near and "I can't see the forest for the tree." Many times I think I block the way for you to get through to my mind.
I try to anticipate what you might say, rather than listening—I am so inclined to write something of worth that I try to guess at words you might say when I know there's no chance on earth or any other way to determine your words and will than to sit and wait for them to birth while I am silent and still. ~Neva Balduff
